

Access to trial information

Purpose:

To explore people's attitudes to sharing information collected during a clinical trial.

Equipment needed:

Instructions sheet

Slips to record answers (below, to be cut into two)

Box to collect slips

Task:

People will be asked about their willingness to join a clinical trial, under different options for subsequent access to the information that is collected about them. The slips will be placed in a box, labelled ACCESS TO TRIAL INFORMATION.

Access to information collected in clinical trials?

If you were asked to take part in a clinical trial, the research team might wish to do different things with the information they collect from you. We are interested in how this might affect your willingness to join a trial.

Please use the slip to let us know what you think about the following five options:

- 1. Information is not given to anyone outside the research team
- 2. Information might be given to other researchers outside the team, after the removal of the participants' names and dates of birth
- 3. Information might be given to other researchers outside the team, after the removal of everything that might identify the participants
- 4. Information might be given to anyone you wants it, after the removal of the participants' names and dates of birth
- 5. Information might be given to anyone you wants it, after the removal of everything that might identify the participants

Please give us your opinion on each of the five options, by putting a circle around your answer

I would be willing to join a trial if the information collected about me was not given to anyone outside the research team

Yes	No	I don't know
